Summit route safety

You need high level of fitness and rock scrambling skills for this summit route that climbs steeply from the viewpoint at the end of the walking track.

- Never attempt this route in wet weather; when rain is forecast; or in very hot weather.
- This route is unsuitable for young children and inexperienced people who cannot climb unassisted.

Climbers be careful

Serious injuries have occurred here.

Do not deviate from the summit route. Side tracks can end in tragedy.

-  Rockfall can occur at any time.
-  Never climb in mist, after rain or if rain is forecast. Rocks become slippery in wet conditions. Poor visibility can cause confusion and potentially fatal mistakes.
-  Avoid climbing in extreme temperatures. Stay hydrated and eat to keep your energy levels up.
