

Townsville Town Common Conservation Park map

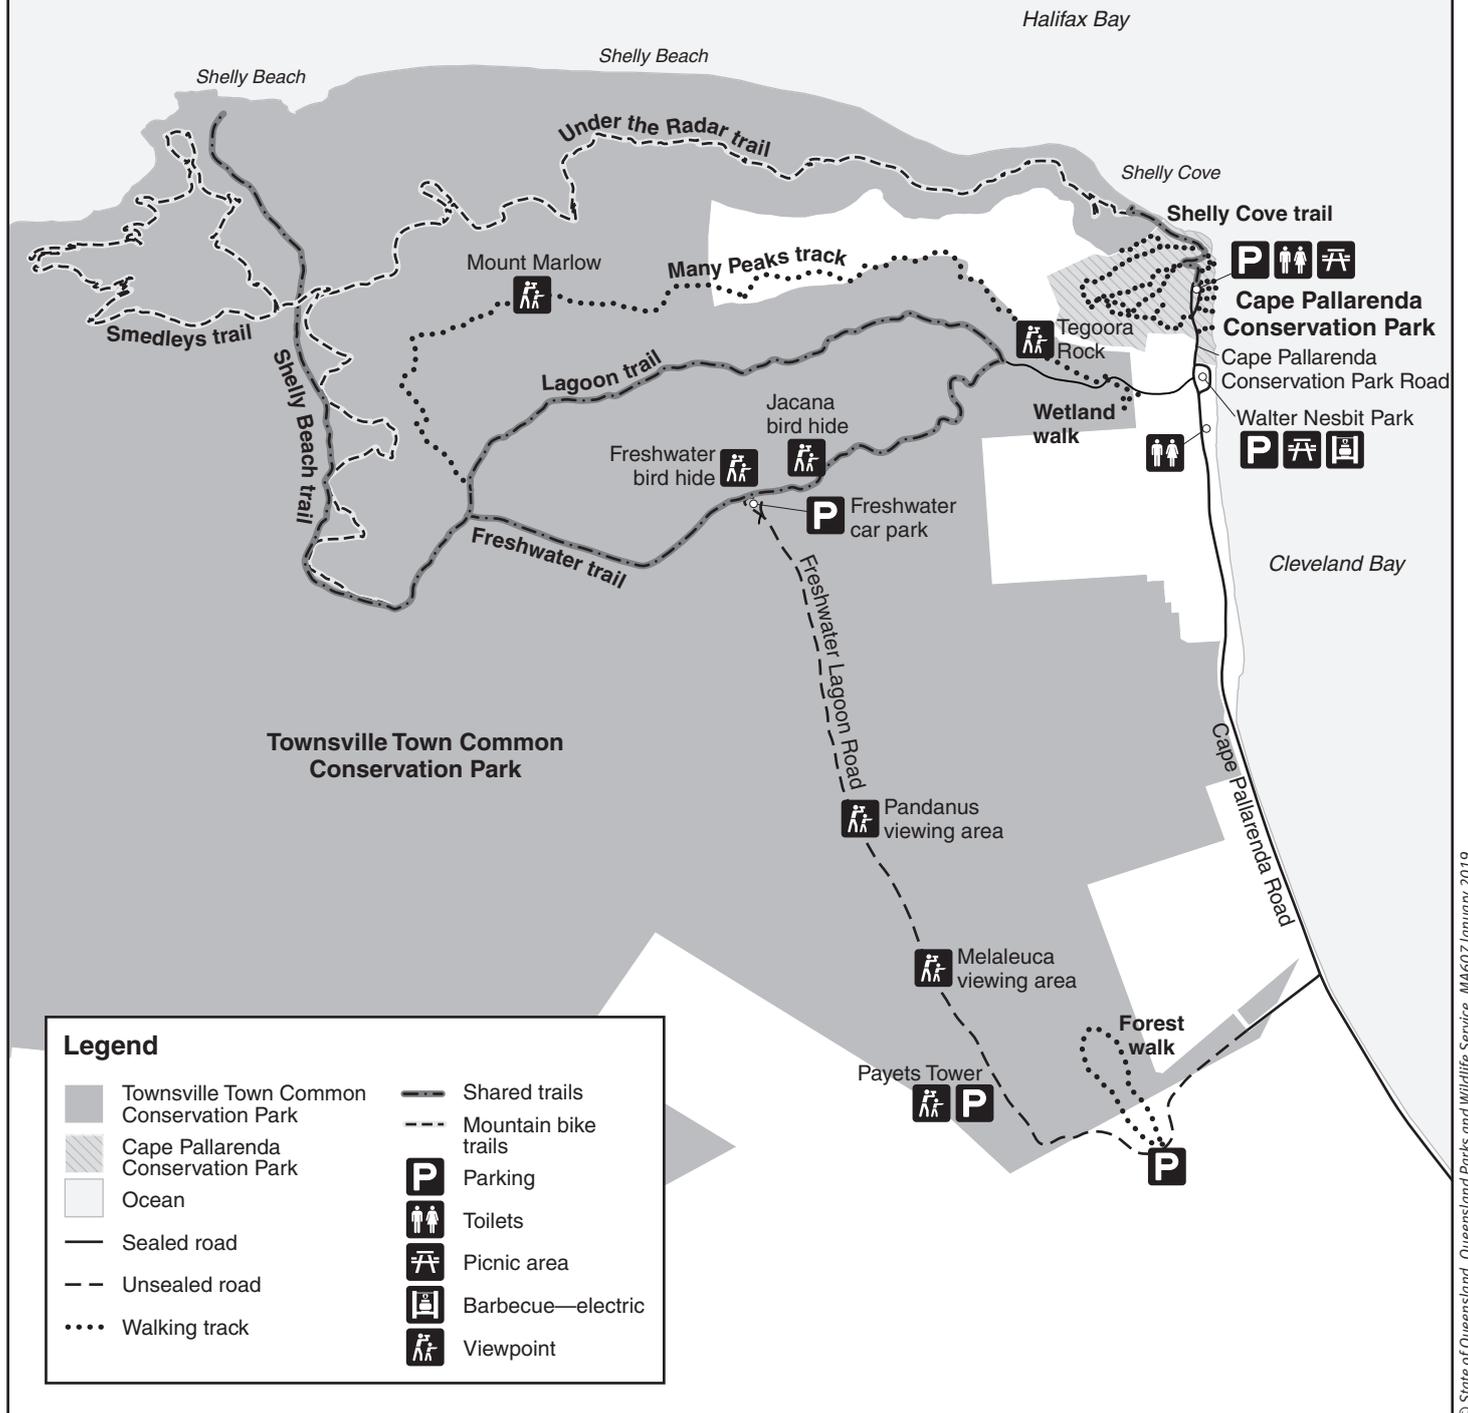

Dangerous stinging jellyfish (stingers) may be present in the coastal waters at any time, but occur more frequently in the warmer months. If you do enter the water, a full-body lycra suit, or equivalent, may provide a good measure of protection against stinging jellyfish and sunburn. Visit www.marinestingers.com.au for the latest safety and first aid information.

Remember to be crocwise in croc country.

Scale 0 1 2km

Legend

- | | |
|--|----------------------|
| Townsville Town Common Conservation Park | Shared trails |
| Cape Pallarenda Conservation Park | Mountain bike trails |
| Ocean | Parking |
| Sealed road | Toilets |
| Unsealed road | Picnic area |
| Walking track | Barbecue—electric |
| | Viewpoint |