This network of flowing trails winds along the rain shadowed slopes of the Lamb Range. With lengths and grades for everyone, riders navigate granite outcrops, cross clear streams, and traverse forests of bloodwoods, stringybarks, she-oaks, cycads and grass trees.

Right Activity Right Place

These shared trails were built for mountain bike riding but are available to walkers. Horse and trail bike riding are not permitted.

- Walkers are welcome to use the mountain bike trails in this network. For your safety, walk in the opposite direction of travel and give way to mountain bikes.
- Dogs, horses and other vehicles are not permitted in the mountain bike park.

Ride Safely

- Remain on the marked mountain bike trails.
- Riders may need to lift bikes through or over gates.
- Service vehicles have limited access to the road network. Be aware of road and trail crossings and give way to vehicles. If required, emergency vehicles may be able to access these roads. Make note of the location of the roads on the map, and as you ride the trails.
- Wear appropriate safety gear and be realistic about your cycling abilities.
- Sections of trails may be slippery when wet and creeks can rise rapidly in heavy rain. Beware of swift flowing water.
- Mobile phone reception only exists in some sections of the mountain bike park. Signs provide a guide to those locations on the trail network.

Ride Responsibly

- Give way down slopes and alert other riders when approaching.
- Avoid skidding and sliding around turns and down slopes—this may result in collisions with other trail users and damage to the trail surface.
- Keep tracks in good condition and limit erosion by not riding during or immediately after wet weather.

Care for Your Park

- Stay on marked trails and formed roads to prevent erosion and disturbance to vegetation.
- Take your rubbish with you when you leave.
